LIBERAL MINISTRY LINE-UP IS GIVEN

SLATE IS COMPLETED, THOUGH CHANGES ALWAYS POSSIBLE AT LAST MOMENT

Mr. Fisher Confirmed as Minister of Customs—Dr. King Acts Left-Handed Promotion

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Premier Meighen will resign at noon tomorrow unless there is a change of plans. A meeting of the Cabinet, the final one, is scheduled for the morning at 11 o'clock. At its conclusion, Mr. Meighen will, in all probability, proceed to Government House and tender his resignation to the Governor-General.

It seems probable that the calling of Mr. King will follow close on the resignation of Mr. Meighen. This evening it was stated on excellent authority that Mr. King is quite ready.

The Cabinet slate is complete and the final announcement is unlikely to produce many surprises, while there is always a possibility of change at the last minute.

The Slate

The line-up is likely to be as follows:

Prime Minister and External Affairs, Right Hon. Mackenzie King.
Minister of Finance, Hon. J. A. Robb.
Minister of Justice, Hon. E. L. Pointe.
Minister of Railways, Hon. Charles Dunning.
Minister of Interior, Hon. Charles Stewart.
Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell.
Minister of Marine, Hon. P. J. Carlin.
Postmaster General, Hon. P. J. Veniot.
Minister of Public Works, Hon. J. C. Elliott.
Minister of Customs, W. D. Fisher.
Minister of Trade and Commerce, James Malcolm.
Minister of Immigration, Robert Forke.
Minister of National Defence, Col. J. L. Ralston.
Minister of Health and S.C.R., Hon. J. H. King.
Minister of Labor, probably Peter Heenan.

Without portfolio, Senator Dandurand, J. A. Sinclair.

It is also stated that Mr. Rinfret will enter the Cabinet as Solicitor-General, and that there will be two or three additional Ministers without portfolio.

LOW INSURANCE RATES ADVOCATED

"We have a law regulating the appointment of agents and which requires that a qualification report shall be made out and filed with the insurance commissioner before the licence is issued. The agent in this case was acting in good faith but was imposed upon. Over-insurance is the greatest incentive there is for arson, and one-half of our fire loss is caused by set fires. I do not mean to infer that all property is over-insured. It is only the exception, but when the fire is started it is hard to tell what will burn.

Majority Are Honest Men

"The great majority of the agents are honest, hardworking men who want to do a good honest business. For a while they carefully followed instructions given them and do not accept any but the best risks. Then some one offers the agent a risk that is prohibited by the company he represents. It pays a high rate for a correspondingly larger commission. He refuses it and watches the man take it to one of his competitors, who accepts it. He knows that agent has the same orders about risks of that kind that he has and wonders how it happens that the other company will accept it when his will not. After this has happened a few times he decides he will try one and see what the company will do. When it is offered he writes the policy, sends in the daily report with fear and trembling, confident that it will be rejected, but it is accepted, so he tries another one and it gets by. In a short time he is looking for that kind of business because of the larger returns. He soon builds up a large business and all of the special agents are trying to place their companies with him.

"Often a person will go to an agent and have his property insured, give the true value and have the insurance written for a fair amount, then go to another agent in perhaps another town and have another policy written for a like amount. This almost always starts a fire. Sometimes, of course, he loses his nerve or the fire did not burn, but in nearly every case it is a total loss. The agent in this case was acting in good faith but was imposed upon. Over-insurance is the greatest incentive there is for arson, and one-half of our fire loss is caused by set fires. I do not mean to infer that all property is over-insured. It is only the exception, but when the fire is started it is hard to tell what will burn.

All Anxious to Settle Loss

"Then, after the fire, they are all anxious to settle the loss, the different companies vying with each other in an effort to be the first to settle and often using this in their advertisements as an inducement and reason why they should be given business. This has sometimes made me wonder why the companies do not attach a

North and west of Peking is the region occupied by the Kuomintang forces, formerly commanded by General Feng. South of Wu's territory is that under the Canton Government. In the southwest and west centre are neutral provinces. Canton and the Kuomintang are regarded as under Soviet influence, while the allied marshals are opposed to that influence.

RESULTS ARE GIVEN OF RECHECKS MADE

Losses Arr Made by Responsible Officials in Florida—Moorehaven's Deaths Exceed Miami's

MIAMI, Sept. 23.—Additional survey and rechecks made today in the storm devastated southeastern coast of Florida show 265 known dead; 1,100 in hospitals injured, probably 500 seriously, and property loss of approximately $165,000,000.

As compiled by W. H. Combs, in charge of the bureau of missing persons here, Colonel L. S. Lowry, Jr., leader in the rescue work at Moorehaven, the Associated Press and The Miami Daily News, the deaths by cities and towns were as follows: Moorehaven, 124; Miami and immediate vicinity, 109; Hollywood and immediate vicinity, 14; Hialeah, 22; Palmdale, 134; Dana, 11; Pulford, 4; Seahoard Park, 7; Ingleisle, 3; Hallandale, 2; Homestead, 2; Pompano, 2. An accurate check of the deaths in Clewiston and Progress remains to be made.

Property Loss Was Given as Follows:

Greater Miami district, including Miami Beach, Coral Gables and Coconut Grove, $100,000,000, estimated by Miami Chamber of Commerce; Hialeah, $15,000,000, estimated by Mayor Grechen; Hollywood and Dala, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000, estimated by J. W. Young, developer of Hollywood; Fort Lauderdale, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000, estimated by city officials.

Searchers Still at Work

Searchers and divers still were at work in Biscayne Bay and at Moorehaven and it was expected that when their work was finished there would be large accretions to the death list. Col. Lowry estimated that there were at least 100 more dead at Moorehaven with the possibility that some bodies would not be recovered until the flood waters had receded, a week or more hence. Searching parties found seven more bodies at Miami, and the fatality list was increased by another two, with the deaths at Coral Gable of a small girl and a man who had been injured.

Unidentified Man's Body Recovered

An unidentified man's body was recovered from the sunken schooner Evelyn D., which foundered in the harbor with a liquor cargo valued at $70,000.

BUSINESS REVISION

"Your committee, without hesitation, expressed the opinion that the fixing or charging by any insurer of any rate of premium with respect to automobile insurance differing from the rate fixed or charged for risks of essentially the same physical hazard in the same territorial classification should be regarded as a contravention of the Ontario ruling law. There is evidence that most insurers have revised their business and are now charging rates of premium in accordance with their own schedule of rates for individual cars.

Business Revision

"In connection with the premium rate one of the problems to be noted was that whereas the finance corporation in ways insured upon a wholesale rate for the insurer, the benefit of such low rate was not always passed on to the purchaser. The policies or certificates issued to the purchasers did not show the rate of premium."

NO DEATHS REPORTED WEST OF PENSACOLA

Mobile Escapes Without Any Buildings Being Demolished, Though Many Roofs Suffer

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 23.—In striking contrast to the loss of life it caused on the Florida East coast, the recent tropical hurricane appears to have caused no deaths along the Gulf Coast, except in Pensacola. Property loss, however, was heavy, especially at Pensacola, where details today were headed by an estimate of $5,000,000 damage to vessels and shipping interests, including the damage to the Pensacola harbor, and to twenty-five airplanes there. Pensacola's greatest loss was to wharves, ship property and beach structures, as well as to small vessels in the harbor. But that city is rapidly getting back to normal.

Mobile, too, is returning to normal, and a check thus showed that no buildings had been demolished. Most of Mobile's loss was to roofs and household furniture, while business houses suffered stock damage from rain, when parts of roofs were blown away.

MAPLE LEAF LEGION TO ARRIVE SATURDAY

Local Returned Men Will Welcome
Comrades in Arms From Seattle and Vicinity

A large party of American Legion members will arrive here on Saturday. Soldier organizations of the city have joined hands in planning for their welcome and entertainment on Saturday and Sunday.

The most pleasing and touching feature of the visit is the joint tribute to dead comrades, which the soldiers of both countries will pay on Sunday afternoon at a memorial service to take place at the War Memorial, Parliament Square, at 2:30 o'clock. The tribute which the United States veterans desire to pay to their dead comrades in arms will strike a chord in the hearts of the relatives of the men resting in the cemeteries of the city, most of whom are soldiers and sailors who bravely and unconplainingly battled with their war disabilities or fought to recover health shattered by the strains of service long after hostilities had ceased.

Another feature of the visit which attracted the open-heartedness of the United States veterans is that in spite of the full programme on Sunday they have expressed their desire to snatch a little time to visit the ex-service men in the local hospitals and distribute a few comforts.

Briefly the programme for the two-days are as follows:

Saturday—Welcome at the wharf on arrival at 12:45 p.m. by the reception committee, composed of representatives of all the ex-service organizations and members of patriotic societies. Social gathering at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Veterans of France Club.

Sunday morning—Visits to the hospitals; at 2:30, assemble at the War Memorial for the memorial service, conducted by Rev. Wm. Carroll, of Victoria. Programme, hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," prayer, placing of wreaths on memorial by women's auxiliaries of American Legion and Victoria ex-service organizations, address, Rev. Wm. Carroll; silent tribute; response, Lieutenant Bert C. Ross, Seattle; Last Post. National Anthem.

The general public is cordially invited to participate in this service.
The visitors will leave by the steamer to Seattle at 4:30 o'clock.

Train Wreck in Japan Causes Many Deaths

TOKIO, Sept. 23.—With the death total resulting from the wreck of the express train near Hiroshima having reached approximately forty as additional victims died from their injuries, the State Department has announced there were two foreigners killed. It was first thought that an American missionary named Spencer had been killed, but it has been ascertained he was not among the casualties. The foreigners were a Russian and a Norwegian whose names are not known.

AMERICAN BANKERS PARTY WILL ARRIVE

Party of 250 en Route to Los Angeles Will Spend Brief Period in Victoria Today

A party of American bankers on their way to the great gathering at Los Angeles will arrive in the city this afternoon from Banff. The two trains will arrive in Vancouver over the Canadian Pacific Railway, about 8 o'clock, there being approximately 180 women in the party, which numbers 250 in all.

An official welcome will be accorded by Mayor L. J. Taylor, Mr. F. L.
Burke, president of the Board of Trade and bankers, to the party, which will be taken for a drive before the departure of the steamer for Victoria.

They will spend two hours here and proceed to Seattle.
Another party will arrive over the Canadian National Railways on Tuesday morning at Vancouver, but it is understood they will proceed by rail to Seattle over the Great Northern Railway.

Both sections are routed to the convention at Los Angeles, beginning on October 1.

Messrs. Gordon and Hardie, while Mr.
F. E. Tremblay, Winnipeg, is representing the Canadian Pacific Railway publicity bureau.

The programme includes a dinner this evening by the local newspapers as hosts, and a drive and visit to Government House tomorrow afternoon by the Victoria Press Club for the women members of the party.

PEACEFUL PICKETING ROUSES DISCUSSION

Trades and Labor Congress Declines to Go as Far as Radical Element Would Like

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—"Peaceful picketing" was a subject which roused top feeling among the delegates at today's meeting of the fifty-second convention of the Dominion Trades Labor Congress, in session here. The discussion was enlivened by the efforts of the "Left" wing of the congress to induce the executive committee to go to the extent of advising and aiding labor to continue picketing, whether or not against the law, and to ignore injunctions of the courts.

The Radical element fared badly, however, in the voting, though prominent in the debate. The various branches of the report of the special committee named to deal with the matter were adopted, except for the last clause, and this will be taken up on resumption of sittings. Mr. Buck, of Toronto, and delegate John Macdonald, also of Toronto, led the fight against the recommendations of the special committee, of which Vice-President James Simpson, of Toronto, is chairman.

General Manager of Imperial Bank Comes

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Favorable comment on the continued vigorous development being experienced by British Columbia was made by Mr. A.
E. Phillips, general manager of the Imperial Bank, this evening after his arrival in Vancouver in the course of a tour of inspection of western branches. Mr. Phillips is accompanied by two directors of the bank, Messrs.
F. A. Rolph, of Toronto, and R. S.
Waldie.

Chinese Strike Pickets Withdrawn at Canton

HONG KONG, Sept. 23.—Advisers from Canton report the withdrawal of Chinese strike pickets from the exit of the British and French bridges.

C.N.R. Investigates New Forward Movement

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 23.—A survey is being made of the relationship of the Canadian National Railways' maintenance of the way employees to the company, with the purpose of determining whether it is feasible to put into operation a cooperative working plan somewhat similar to that now in force in the Canadian National Railways shops.
This survey is being conducted by Captain C. S. Boyer, Jr., consulting engineer for the American Federation of Labor, who made a similar survey previous to the adoption of the Canadian National Railways shop co-operative plan. Captain Boyer's report will be given consideration jointly by the Canadian National management and the executive of the association.

15,000 AN HOUR PASS GATES TO SEE FIGHT

1,600 Ushers Handle Fast Throng at Top Speed—Crowd Was Orderly and Consistent

RINGSIDE, Reginald-Centennial Stadium, Sept. 23.—Fifty thousand fight fans swarmed into the stadium for the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight tonight while the coming was good—before the last-hour rush. Sta-tionaries estimated before darkness descended on the huge enclosure that the advance mass of boxing's greatest crowd had accumulated at the rate of 15,000 an hour since the gates were thrown open at 3:40 o'clock.

Gaining in momentum as the hour for the title bout approached, the crowd gave every assurance of a capacity gate of 132,000, of which 127,000 were cash customers.
The well-oiled machinery, drilled for days to function at top speed, was in the pink of condition. Sixteen hundred ushers handled the crowd with ease as the momentous event fairly evenly divided, and even at the peak the attendance got no worse than a draw at any stage. Police had a field day in the late afternoon and early evening. The crowd was consistent and, as long as there was no fighting in the ring, no declaration of war came from belligerents in the crowd.
The constabulary, 3,500 strong, held itself in readiness.

"That Old Gang of Mine"

Early arrivals had plenty to see and hear. A crowd in the making proved a worthwhile sight and as the record attendance was being completed ten loud speakers over the ring broadcast a musical programme, tolerated, but not applauded by the early bird seeking the ringworms. A quarterly, in good voice for such an occasion, started the ball rolling.

Although a thick haze hung over the arena tonight, consisting partly of tobacco smoke and partly of fog, there was little prospect of rain when the preliminary programme started at 8 o'clock.

The atmosphere was thick and stuffy around the ring, but the spectacular battery of tower lights encircling the enclosure had no difficulty penetrating the murkiness, making the visibility satisfactory even for the farthest outposts of the 15,500 seats.

Nicaraguan Civil War Is Apparently Ended

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 23.— Peace negotiations, which have been in progress for some time to end the revolutionary struggle in Nicaragua, resulted today in the acceptance by the Liberal revolutionists of the terms of the armistice proposed by the de-facto government of Gen. Chamorro.
A peace conference to end the fratrici-dal struggle will be held next week.

Cardinal Dies

ORLEANS, France, Sept. 23.—Cardinal Arthur Tachet, Bishop of Orleans, is dead.

Conviction Quashed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Because Justice of the Peace W. M. Halliday tried at Alert Bay, in the county of Vancouver, Frank Kennedy, logger, and found him guilty of an alleged in-fracture of the Government Liquor Act, committed at Hardy Bay, in the county of Nanaimo, Mr. Justice D. A.
McDonald in Supreme Court today quashed the conviction.

Man Injured Is Brought to Hospital

According to information received here early this morning, an accident, necessitating medical aid, occurred yesterday at Port Renfrew, on the logging railway. While details are lacking, it is understood a man received serious injuries and is being rushed to this city by the quickest means of transportation.

Colonel House, setting off on a Mediterranean cruise, refused to be interviewed.

"Silence," he said, "is golden. It's golden always. A girl called to see another girl one morning, but the parlor maid said:

"Miss Ann ain't in, miss. She's gone to her class."

"Class? What class?"

"Well, you see, miss, she's gettin' married next month. Miss Ann is."

"Yes, I know that."

"And so, miss, she's takin' a thorough course in domestic science."

"Jane Darwin" Swims For Fifteen Hours Before Giving Up

DOVER, England, Sept. 23.—Miss Lorna Marriott (Jane Darwin) abandoned her attempt to cross the English Channel from France at noon today after swimming fifteen hours.

She gave up when she found she was being carried away from the shore by the tide. When taken from the water she was five miles south of Dover.

Those who expect too much of their friends don't have many.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

Jealous Women

YOU can't blame them. Beauty and health are given but they are difficult to keep. No wonder women guard them jealously. No wonder their mirrors reveal the future glances of the afraid. It is too bad that women do not realize that constipation, the ravenous poison, undermines health, destroys beauty, sap vitality and sicken with headaches. But thank goodness, beauty and health may be safeguarded by safely, surely and permanently relieving constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

No matter if constipation has become chronic, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will bring permanent relief. This is why ALL-BRAN journeys through the body unchanged in fiber. It is what doctors call a bulk food. It is 100% bran and brings 100% results.

Ask Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps through the intestine, it cleans and purifies—stimulates the flow of digestive juices—absorbs and carries moisture. It causes a lagged intestine to function as nature intended.

That's the splendid thing about the action of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—it promotes natural, healthy and regular elimination.

Eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone, or with fresh or preserved fruit—sprinkle over other cereals; cook with hot cereals; use in soups, or in the recipe on the package.

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Don't accept a part-bran product, for it cannot do a whole-bran job. Chances are, it will do no good at all. Don't take chances. All grocers sell Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it.

City and District

Dim as Beetle—The many friends of Mr. Alexander Baillie, manager of the Balfour Guthrie Company at Seattle, will regret to learn that his wife died yesterday morning at their home in Seattle.

To Sing at Lecture—Mrs. Illida Bird and Master Arthur Bird, boy soloist, of St. Mary's Church, choir, will sing at the illustrated lecture on London in the King's Hall tonight at 7:45 o'clock. All will be welcome.

Mr. John A. Macdonald Club—The regular meeting of the Mr. John A. Macdonald Club will be held tonight in the Conservative Rooms, Campbell Building, Fort Street, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

Two Fire Calls—The fire department responded to alarms for two small fires yesterday evening. The first fire at 5:37 o'clock was at a roof fire at 1443 Rockland Avenue, and the second to a bush fire on a Dallas Road beach.

Weekly Dance—The city police will inaugurate their regular weekly dances when they hold the first next Friday night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. Invitations can be obtained from Sergeant Healey, Constables Ralston and Bishop. Bishop's four-piece orchestra will be in attendance.

Telegraph Creek Mail—The last mail for the summer season for Telegraph Creek and Porter Landing will be forwarded from Victoria at 1:15 p.m. on October 4. After that, mails for these points will be forwarded overland from Atlin, and will be restricted to letters and newspapers.

Equilateral Church Services—Harvest festival services will be held at the Equilateral United Church on Sunday, when the Rev. J. D. Brown, principal of Ryerson College, will be the special preacher, morning and evening. Special music will include anthems by the choir and solos by Mrs. Walden, Mrs. Cookson and Mr. G. Meehan. The celebration will be continued on Tuesday evening with a harvest home supper.

Armistice Period Committee—An important meeting of the Armistice Period Committee will take place in the office of Mr. B. Hogg, Broughton Street, on Tuesday evening, September 28, at 8 o'clock. All delegates representing the ex-service associations in Victoria are asked to attend. At this meeting plans will be made for the activities of the Armistice Period Committee during armistice period and for the sale of poppies.

Adjournment Granted—Edna Parada and Terry R. Nelson, jointly charged as keepers of a disorderly house, located in a suite of rooms at the Empire Rooms, appeared in the City Police Court yesterday. The accused were represented by attorney, Mr. E. C. Fennell, and Mr. G. Meehan. Margaret Allen and two Chinamen, Book Soon Jung and George Soon, were charged with being inmates of the said place. A remand in these cases was granted until Tuesday next.

Case Adjourned—Lela Roberts, charged as keeper of a disorderly house, the Panama Hotel, Johnson Street, appeared in the City Police Court yesterday. Irene Meyers was charged as an inmate, and two Japanese and one Chinese, namely, Yoshida and K. Tamaki, and Nip Duck Wing, were also held. The latter forfeited bail when he failed to appear in court to answer to the charge. The cases of the other accused were adjourned until Tuesday next, September 28.

Returns Home—Mr. Albert McNeill, who was reported as being lost in the Goldstream watershed on Wednesday evening, reached the Linton place about 10 o'clock. He explains that the reason he did not reply to the shots fired early in the evening by Mr. Linton to attract his attention was due to the fact that he had expended his ammunition deer hunting. He says he waited until the moon rose in order to return to the road. The Provincial police were notified, but the family did not receive notice that he was safe until some hours later, according to Mr. McNeill's statement.

Succession of Battering Hooks to the head weakened Clements and he dropped to the floor for the final count from a right clip to the chin, delivered at close range. He was counted out after being in the ring only two minutes and fifty-two seconds.

Munn, a former football lineman and ex-Nebraska legislator, outclassed his opponent from the tap of the song. He had advantages in weight, height and speed, and was 210 1/2 pounds to 119 1/2 for Clements.

Godfrey Beats Lawson—Capitalizing an advantage of nearly forty-three pounds in weight, George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro, carried off the judges' decision over "Fighting Bob" Lawson, Alabama negro, in a six-round boxing match.

Godfrey towered over his opponent but Lawson was game, and gave his big rival a lively battle on the few occasions when they stood toe to toe. Godfrey weighed 223 and Lawson 180 1/2 pounds.

Loughran Takes Decision—In a slashing six-round go between rive belting mates of the title bout, participants, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia light-heavyweight, who helped train Dempsey, won the judges' decision from Jimmy Delaney, of St. Paul, a training partner of Tunney.

Loughran cut Delaney badly about the mouth and nose with a straight right, but the St. Paul man's prize of "Phantom Mike" Gibbons, employed a snappy left with telling effect. Loughran's strong finish in the last two rounds gave him the verdict after they had battled close to even terms in the first four. There were no knockdowns. Loughran weighed 174 and Delaney 177 pounds.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Punch has decided to refuse to print advertisements of liars. After the existing contracts expire, no one will be entered into for such advertisements. No explanation for this revolutionary move has been offered.

UNDER THE CLOCK

City Hall Activities in Brief

In the absence of Mayor Pendray, Alderman William Marchant will represent the city at the banquet to be given by the local newspapers at the Empress Hotel this evening for the delegates to the British Columbia and Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association convention.

Mayor Pendray has donated a prize for the best gentleman dancer at the Army and Navy Veterans' convention frolic to be held in the Crystal Garden tonight. His Honor the lieutenant-governor, had already presented a sterling silver pendant for the best lady dancer.

The Fire Warden will recommend to the City Council on Monday evening that Fire Chief Stewart be sent to Fresno to attend the thirty-third annual convention of the Pacific Coast Firemen's Association.

VETERANS SEE NEW CHAMP CROWNED

JACK McCAULIFFE, BATTLING NELSON AND JACK SKELLY WATCH FIGHT

300 News Correspondents Work feverishly filing "Dope" for Fans Throughout World

RINGSIDE, Requi-Centennial Stadium, Sept. 23.—Getting into the gigantic requi-centennial arena, tonight was as bad as running an old-time gauntlet, or passing through customs lines as a part of entry. Sixteen policemen, six ushers, two firemen and one official bouncer scrutinized the early ticket holders and their pasteboards.

Eleven batteries of incandescent lights, the most powerful group ever turned on an arena, blazed upon the swirling vista of humanity. Over the ring, thirty-seven cone-shaped lamps glared down upon the scene of combat.

Jack McCAuliffe, old undefeated lightweight champion, who once defended his title in a seventy-five-round fight—London Prize Ring Rules—for a small side bet and before a gallery of 550, was a member of the 11,750,000 crowd.

"Borne people," said Jack, "were born lucky," referring to the size of the gate today.

Battling Nelson, who almost twenty years ago fought Joe Gans for Tex Rickard in the premier promoter's first pugilistic encounter at Goldfield, Nevada, sat mouth agape for five minutes, awed by the spectacle.

Clattered about the ring, some 300 correspondents, filing the news of the spectacle to all parts of the world, worked as feverishly as their allotment of sixteen inches of space per person would admit. A complicated network of ninety-two wires carried close to 1,000,000 words, with the blow by blow description going to Australia, South America and all of the big European countries.

John C. Kennedy, claiming to be ninety years of age and a native of San Francisco, drove his own filver to the battleground and bought a $5.50 ticket for $10 from an speculator. He scorned the offer of a pair of binoculars, declaring his eyes as good as any other youngster's.

"Digger" Macpherson, a six-footer from the "Out Back" country of Australia, who aspires to be a heavyweight fighter, spent three years' savings to see a heavyweight battle.

Two Picked Cricket Teams Play Tomorrow

A match will be played on the Jubilee Hospital Grounds on Saturday between a team captained by A. H. Goodwin and the T. & V.C. starting at 2:15 p.m. sharp, similar to the conditions of the Gardner-Johnson competition in Vancouver. Each side will have a maximum limit of only two hours' batting, and a very interesting game is expected, judging from the strength of the teams. The teams will be:

Goodwin's XI—A. H. Goodwin (capt.), A. G. Tracy, F. L. Watson, C. E. Straker, P. Almond, F. Dunn, L. Vaughan, P. P. Payne, N. Wilkin, H. Leithay, and G. N. Le May. T. & V.C.—J. Wallace, I. Hien, L. Wallace, K. Verrall (capt.), R. McInnis, D. Laird, C. Kirkland, J. Payne, G. Payne, N. Florence, J. Smith.

Aurora Club Defaults

The Aurora Cricket Club, of Vancouver, which should have played the University Inn on Saturday for the Tomlin Trophy, ambushed by the inter-league championship, will not be able to field a team and have defaulted to the local team.

Woodbine Sets Season Fashions for East

WOODBINE sets the late season fashion for Eastern Canada at its Fall race meeting. Some of the smart costumes worn on the track are shown. Left, the sport fur coat and the velvet skirt with trim of the same material is typical of the season, as is the monkey trimmed coat of the young lady's companion. Note the large white shoulder corsage. An English importation is the seat case used by Mrs. Barbara Miller, who is seen at the right. Mrs. Miller, who is a daughter of Captain the Honorable J. Lowther, and a niece of the Earl of Londsdale, won the case at the recent Olympia. She is a horsewoman of note.

Mrs. Albert Griffiths Reads National Report

Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Meeting at "Windyhaugh" Is Outstanding Success—Reports of Municipal Chapter Read—Soldiers' Graves Cared For

The first meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., to be held since the summer holidays took place yesterday afternoon at "Windyhaugh," kindly lent for the occasion by Mrs. J. Hendon (Gillespie). The regents and officers of all the primary chapters were present and the municipal report, Mrs. Gillespie, presided, full and interesting reports were read by the secretary, treasurer, and educational secretary, showing that much had been accomplished during the last season. Miss Cooke's report of the educational work was particularly comprehensive and detailed, showing the success of the bursaries and scholarships under the War Memorial scheme. Mrs. Mortimer Appleby, convener of the soldiers' graves committee, reported that fourteen new graves had been cared for and the curbs of fifty replaced.

It was announced that next Tuesday evening the members of the I.O.D.E. will attend the performance of "Pollyanna," which is being given at the Coliseum in aid of the solarium fund. Attention was drawn to the series of lectures by the Rev. H. T. Archbold, to be given at the Memorial Hall. After a great deal of business had been discussed the hostess entertained the members at tea, the tables being arranged in bowls of beautiful Autumn chrysanthemums.

President's Report

After tea the members adjourned to the drawing-room and hall, where Mrs. Albert Griffiths, president of Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E., read her report of the National Chapter conference in Saint John, New Brunswick. Before Mrs. Griffiths commenced her very full report, Mrs. Gillespie presented to visiting regents charming little color bouquets as a small token of affection. Mrs. Gillespie regretted that Miss Helen MacKenzie had been unable to be present at the meeting, and also spoke of the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Henry Croft, whose association with the Order was always a source of pleasure to the members. Mrs. Bodkin, of Saanich; Mrs. C. H. Sampson, past regent; and Mrs. Griffiths each received bouquets. Mrs. Sampson then consented to take the chair for the remainder of the meeting.

Mrs. Griffiths reported each of the days' activities in Saint John, telling of the wonderful welcome accorded to the delegates by the Provincial Chapter of the eastern town. She gave in part, a number of the reports which were read at the meeting, which were presided over by Miss Church, national president, and regretted that time did not permit a more detailed account. Mrs. Greenaway had reported on the ever-increasing growth of I.O.D.E. work in India. The sum of $500 had been forwarded to Miss Anderson for domestic science work in Bombay. Mrs. Nicholson, the national secretary, had read her report; Mrs. Brithood, national organizer, had reported an increase in chapters and added interest in the work of the Order throughout the Dominion; the subject of immigration had been one of vital importance, and the Canadianizing of foreigners had been a subject for considerable discussion.

The I.O.D.E. War Memorial scholarship holder, Mr. Fred Brand, had left for Oxford and Mrs. Griffiths had met him in the "East" just before he sailed. She felt confident that "we shall hear great things of Brand, both in his work at Oxford and upon his return to Canada."

Miss Charlotte Whitton had spoken on the work of Child Welfare and her account of the Geneva conference had been of great interest to the meeting.

Many Social Functions

In addition to the business side of the convention, the delegates had enjoyed some pleasant social functions being entertained in Saint John and also in Fredericton. The Municipal Chapter had given a dinner in their honor, they had enjoyed some delightful drives round the city of Fredericton, visiting some of the historic landmarks of that city. Countess Ashburnham had entertained them at a garden party, Mrs. W. B. Todd, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, had accorded them a hearty welcome. "I shall always have delightful memories of that week in Saint John," concluded Mrs. Griffiths. "I think we have all given a wider vision of the possibilities of the great work that we hope to accomplish in the future." At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. Griffiths was accorded a hearty vote of thanks, which was proposed by Mrs. Hartley and seconded by Mrs. C. P. Hill. Mrs. Andrew Wright presented her with a beautiful bouquet of multi-colored chrysanthemums and balloons after which the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

Countless Women Suffering

There are countless women suffering from ailments which are dragging them down to despair—headaches—backache—pains in the side—nervousness and mental depression, all of which may be symptoms of ailments that may be quickly relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If such women would only be guided by the experience of thousands of others who have been restored to health by this old-fashioned root and herb remedy, much suffering might be avoided. (Adv.)

Women's Institutes

Colwood

COLWOOD, Sept. 23.—The sixteenth anniversary of the Colwood Women's Institute was celebrated yesterday afternoon. The Victoria and Royal Oak Institutes who were competitors at the recent exhibition held in Victoria, together with the Laxton, Happy Valley and Langford Institutes were invited to participate in the celebration.

The hall was very artistically decorated for the occasion under the leadership of Mrs. A. S. Burgess. The tea tables were beautifully decorated and arranged under the convener'ship of Mrs. C. H. Goodall.

A large three-tier birthday cake, made by Mrs. H. Parker and led by Mrs. J. H. Goodall, was placed at the head of the principal table, which had been arranged in the form of a T.

The Institutes were well represented, about one hundred guests being present. Miss M. Kelly, president of the local Institute, welcomed the guests in her usual cheery style. Miss Kelly then spoke very feelingly regarding the splendid work of the late Mrs. W. Bickford during the early years of the Institute and asked for one moment's silence to her memory. Replies were made by representatives of the visiting Institutes.

A short musical programme followed in which Mrs. E. Shields and Miss M. Peatt played pianoforte solos. Miss G. Hawkwood sang "Maybe" and "The Little Tree," and Miss L. White sang "The Valley of Laughter" and "Out of the Dark."

Tea was served, after which Mrs. W. O. Sweetman, organizer of the local Institute in the district, cut the birthday cake, which was served with ice cream.

Place cards for the presidents, secretaries and chartered members were designed and made by Miss Marjorie Hopwood.

Those present were: Miss M. Kelly and Mrs. C. H. Goodall, president and secretary of Colwood W.I.; Mrs. A. B. Colby, president and secretary of Victoria W.I.; Mrs. A. T. Hodges and Mrs. A. Reed, president and secretary of Royal Oak W.I.; Mrs. J. L. Brown and Mrs. E. H. Phillips, president and secretary of Langford W.I.; Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. S. A. H. ## POPULAR COUPLE ARE WEDDED HERE

MISS GWEN McPHILLIPS BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. RICHARD HALL

Both Contracting Parties Are Well Known—Church Attractively Decorated

The marriage of Miss Gwyneth Marie Kathleen McPhillips, only daughter of the Hon. Mr. Justice McPhillips, of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia, and of the late Mrs. McPhillips, to Mr. Richard Thornley Hall, third son of the late Mr. Richard Hall and of Mrs. Hall, Linden Avenue, was solemnized yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, in the presence of a large gathering of friends. The Rev. Father Buckley performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was very charming in her exquisite gown of French gold tissue over Gilette de Dijon georgette, made on long lines. The low waist line was marked with a garland of roses. Her train was of pale gold tulle over shell pink and was adorned with lover's knots of gold tissue. The tiny veil was composed of beautiful old lace (a family heirloom) and tulle and was caught to the side of the head with orange blossoms. Her flowers were a sheaf of Lady Hillingdon roses, tied with gold tissue.

Bridal Retinue
Miss Iris Burton, Miss Kathleen Hall, sister of the groom, and Miss Freda Watter were the bridesmaids, gowned alike in frocks of russet and gold georgette and hats to match, and carrying arm bouquets of golden chrysanthemums. Little Miss Jacqueline de Sussanett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. de Sussanett, was the train bearer in a quaint Huguenot frock of gold and blue taffeta and gold net cap. Miss Thes Arbuthnot was flower girl in a similar frock and she carried a gold basket filled with rose petals which she scattered in the path of the bride and groom as they left the church.

Mr. Alex. McPhillips was best man and the ushers were Mr. Jack Matson and Mr. Vincent McKenna.

During the service special music was rendered by the organist, assisted by an orchestra, "L'Introuvable" being played during the signing of the register. Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson sang an "O Salutaris," "Comte de Sussanett" sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria" (Caesar Franck), and Major Bullock-Webster rendered "Caesar Franck's 'O Salutaris'."

The church had been most artistically decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Charles E. Wilson being responsible for the charming floral setting. Flanking each side of the altar rail, with its fine old brocade frontal, were tall baskets filled with dahlias, chrysanthemums, penstemons and other Autumn blooms in shades of pale gold, blending into creamy pink. On the altar were masses of flowers in similar shades and many lighted tapers in their brass holders added to the beauty of the scene. The pews were marked with golden cornucopia holders filled with blossoms in the prevailing hues.

Reception at Cloonmore House
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, "Cloonmore House," Rockland Avenue, when Mrs. P. A. Babinington, the bride's aunt, assisted the young couple in receiving their guests.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with masses of gold and russet dahlias and chrysanthemums. In the drawing and dining rooms Michaelmas daisies and roses were used. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver, en route for a honeymoon on the Mainland, and on their return will be at home at Hampton Court. The bride traveled in a smart Russian tailleur of black kasha with steel trimming a la Cosaque, and grey fur collar and cuffs worn over a gown to match and close-fitting hat of black with touches of cherry.

To Be Guest of Honor At Reception Today

MISS HELEN MACKENZIE
The reception-ten this afternoon to Miss Helen Mackenzie, chateleine at Government House, will be the opening of the Ladies' Musical Club season. The affair is to take place at Alexandra House, beginning at three o'clock, and those taking part in the very charming little programme which has been arranged include Mrs. F. G. Aldous, Mrs. Jessie Longfield, Mrs. A. Lowell, Miss Merle North, Miss Maria McLaughlin, with Mrs. C. C. Wain at the piano.

It is believed that the aurora borealis is caused by electro-magnetic particles given off by the sun.

and the ushers were Mr. Jack Matson and Mr. Vincent McKenna.
During the service special music was rendered by the organist, assisted by an orchestra, "L'Introuvable" being played during the signing of the register. Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson sang an "O Salutaris," "Comte de Sussanett" sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria" (Caesar Franck), and Major Bullock-Webster rendered "Caesar Franck's 'O Salutaris'."

The church had been most artistically decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Charles E. Wilson being responsible for the charming floral setting. Flanking each side of the altar rail, with its fine old brocade frontal, were tall baskets filled with dahlias, chrysanthemums, penstemons and other Autumn blooms in shades of pale gold, blending into creamy pink. On the altar were masses of flowers in similar shades and many lighted tapers in their brass holders added to the beauty of the scene. The pews were marked with golden cornucopia holders filled with blossoms in the prevailing hues.

TUNNEY WINS HEAVYWEIGHT CROWN

TUNNEY'S SMASHING VICTORY OVER DEMPSEY FURNISHES ONE OF RING'S GREATEST UPSETS

King for Past Seven Years Was Outboxed and Outfought From Start to Finish — Groggy and Bleeding in Battle Fought in Driving Rain Before Crowd of 132,000 Spectators

Greatest Throng in Sport Annals Paid $2,000,000

New Champion Clearly Demonstrated His Right to Purple Robes of Pugilism, Winning Eight of Ten Rounds — Former Titleholder Has No Alibis and Gives All Credit to Fighting Marine

RINGSIDE, SESQUICENTENNIAL STADIUM, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Gene Tunney, the fighting marine, is the new heavyweight champion of the world. He dethroned Jack Dempsey, king for the last seven years, tonight by smashing his way to decisive victory in a ten-round match that went the limit and furnished one of the greatest upsets in boxing history. Dempsey, only a shell of his old fighting self, was outboxed and outfought from start to finish, groggy and bleeding in a one-sided battle that was decided in a driving rain before a record crowd of 132,000 spectators.

This great throng, forming a spectacle unprecedented in sports annals, paid close to $2,000,000 to witness a match that fell far from the sensational heights expected of it.

Judges' Decision Unanimous
Stunned at first by the amazing slowness, the lethargy and lack of old fighting fire in the champion's attack, the dripping throng cheered in the challenger, as he steadily hammered and battered his way to triumph, piling up points that gave him an overwhelming margin, and earned him the unanimous decision of the judges.

Tunney, reaching the pinnacle of a fighting career that started when he was a buck-private in the ranks of the Marines, fought a masterful battle, outgeneraling Dempsey at nearly every turn as well as outpunching the champion. The battling product of the sidewalks of New York's Greenwich Village, at the age of twenty-eight, fairly won his laurels and clearly demonstrated his right to the purple robes of pugilism. But the hands of a man, who came to the end of the championship trail with few weapons and less stamina to defend his place at the top, Dempsey entered the ring as a 4 to 1 favorite, backed as heavily as any champion in history. Experts had proclaimed him fit in spite of his three-year lay-off, but except for a gallant stand and a few flashes of his old self, he was outclassed.

"Tiger Man" Absent
Dempsey was far from the furious fighter, the "tiger man" who smashed his way to sensational victories over Jess Willard, Georges Carpentier and Luis Firpo. Gone was the devastating punch, the furious aggressiveness that marked him as one of the most feared men in the ring.

Instead, he seemed in a daze from the start, unable at any time to sustain his attack for more than a few seconds. Occasionally he connected with long left or right hook to the head and body, but these no more than jarred the challenger temporarily. Always Tunney came back, punching with rights and lefts from the shoulder, rocking Dempsey's head with short but powerful punches.

It was Tunney's terrific right hand blows to the head, chin and ribs that decided the battle. This blow, delivered like a ramrod, broke up Dempsey's rushes, opened cuts about his face, and finally, in the last round, closed his left eye completely.

Dempsey a Sorry Sight
Dempsey was a sorry sight in the final round as Tunney, realizing victory and the goal of his fighting career was in his grasp, threw caution to the wind and lashed the champion about the ring. Gaily Dempsey, weaving and bobbing, bored in, but he only succeeded in taking a steady stream of punishment. One eye closed, blood dripping from a gash under the titleholder's right eye, his mouth was cut and he was reeling, his knees wobbly under the furious shower of Tunney's attack.

Desperately as Tunney tried, however, he could not bring Dempsey down. The champion, as he had done throughout the fight, hunched his beating without giving much ground. In the final wild rally, he called his own guns into play, the weapons that had knocked out most of the men he ever faced, but this time they were not loaded.

The crowd gave Tunney a tumultuous ovation before the judges' decision was announced. There was a doubt as to what it would be. Dozens of the more enthusiastic climbed into the ring, and a squad of police had to clear it so that no one could make known the formal decision.

Tunney Won Eight Rounds
Tunney won eight of the ten rounds by so decisive a manner that no doubt was left of his supremacy. The Associated Press score sheets showed, none of the rounds was scored for the champion and only in the sixth and seventh was he conceded better than an even break. In both of these it was more a case of Tunney's cautious-

Oil Magnates Offer $750,000 for Return Bout in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—A. T. Jennings and J. R. McKinnis, Los Angeles oil operators, tonight announced that they had telegraphed Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, and Gene Tunney, the new titleholder, that they would hang up a $750,000 purse for a return fight between the pair, to be held in an open-air arena near Los Angeles, before January 30, 1927. If the offer is accepted they said they would post $100,000 at once, to insure the match.

Jack missed a right swing and Tunney stepped in with two rights to the face. Dempsey missed a left hook and they clinched. They were in the center of the ring when the bell sounded.

Round Six

Dempsey was spitting blood when he went to his corner. Dempsey crowded into Tunney and missed a left hook. Tunney peppered him with a left and right to the head. Jack chased Tunney across the ring, landing a left hook to the chin. At close range they slugged, with Dempsey having the advantage. Tunney hooked a left to the body and a right to the head as they clinched. Tunney drove a right and left to the body. Tunney was wide with a right to the head. Dempsey hooked a left to the head and Tunney countered with a right and left to the Dempsey's face as Jack waved into him. Tunney was backing away from the champion as Dempsey was feinting for an opening when the round ended.

Round Seven

It is raining. Dempsey crouched as he moved into Tunney. They clinched without damage. Tunney landed a light left and danced away. Tunney drove a right to the chin as they clinched. Dempsey ripped a left hook to Tunney's eye, opening a gash. Tunney punished Gene in a corner and Tunney landed two rights to Dempsey's head without a return. They traded rights to the body and Tunney shot a left to the head. Tunney drove a right to head and missed a light left. Dempsey hooked a left to the chin. They traded punches to the head in a savage exchange in the center of ring. Tunney drives a right to head and backed away as the round ended.

Judges' Decision on Fight First in Forty Years

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 23.—The heavyweight title passed tonight from Jack Dempsey to Gene Tunney on a judges' decision for the first time in nearly four decades of glove fighting. Every previous champion, from the days of John L. Sullivan's reign, has passed from the throne by way of a knockout. Down through an illustrious line—Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Burns, Johnson and Willard—the count of ten has been tolled to effect every shift of the scepter.

Dempsey's downfall ended a seven-year reign that shared the distinction of being the longest on record. Johnson was the only other titleholder to rule for as long a period.

third as they clinched. Jack ducked a right to the head. Tunney was short with a right to head. They clinched. Tunney kept Dempsey away with five straight lefts to face. Tunney drove a right to the jaw. Dempsey landed a right to the head and got a left hook return. Jack drove both fists to the body and Tunney complained the blows were low. They exchanged light lefts to head. Dempsey forced the fight with Tunney backing away. Tunney missed two lefts and a right to the head. Tunney landed a right up-purcut as they clinched. Tunney poked a long left into Dempsey's face as the round ended.

Round Ten
They shook hands. They exchanged punches to the body and clinched in the center ring. Dempsey missed a right to the head. Dempsey drove two rights and lefts to the body and Tunney backed away. Dempsey purred the challenger, punishing him with body blows and forcing him into a corner. Tunney landed two lefts and a right to the chin, staggering Dempsey. Tunney hooked right to the chin and they clinched. Dempsey's left eye was beginning to close and he appeared to be very tired. Tunney planted a hard right to the jaw and Dempsey dropped into his chair as the round ended. His seconds worked frantically over him.

Round Nine
Tunney backed away from a right to the head. They exchanged blows to the body at close quarters. Dempsey missed a wild right swing and they clinched. Dempsey was short with a right to the body and Tunney drove a right to the head. Jack missed rights to the head and caught two lefts to the jaw. Dempsey landed right to the body at close quarters. #### Reds and Nationals Play To Fifteen Inning Draw

Score Is 6-6 When Darkness Halts Thrilling Battle in National League — Cardinals Still Have Two and a Half Game Lead Over Cincinnati

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A thrilling fifteen-inning battle with the Philadelphia Nationals today gave the Cincinnati Reds no chance to draw up on the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals. Darkness halted the struggle with both teams tied, 6 to 6. The Cardinals, idle today, have a two-and-a-half-game lead with only three more games to be played. A Cincinnati loss today would have forced the Reds to win their three remaining games, while St. Louis was looking three, in order to tie for the flag. The St. Louis fray with New York was postponed until Friday because of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Earl Kunz pitched excellent ball today, while his San Francisco teammates clouded the sphere hard to defeat Sacramento 6-2. Gusie Ruhr, lead-off man, opened the Seal attack with a homer in the first. Kunz's status proved a puzzle to the Senators until his eighth, when he became unsteady and walked two men. RIFLEMEN'S MEETING WAS WASTED EFFORT

Brigadier-General Ross Declares Proceedings at Annual Meeting Null and Void—Must Meet Again

Captain P. R. M. Wallis is still president of the Victoria and District Rifle Association, and the business transacted at the recent meeting held in the Armories was out of order, according to the opinion of Brigadier-General Ross, Commandant of M.D. No. 11. It is stated that cadets attended the meeting en masse and elected Major Fred Richardson, O.B.E., to the presidency. Great dissatisfaction arose as to the voting power of the young shots, and now the report from military headquarters is that the lads are not eligible to vote.

This action by the G.O.C. has been taken in view of the fact that the cadets have no continuity of service. Lads who belonged to the cadet unit last Summer have no power to vote at the September meeting; they declare, unless still members of cadet organizations. No evidence of this membership officially exists in the records at present, as the new rolls have not yet been filed at Work Point. It is understood.

Brigadier-General Ross' opinion is that Captain P. R. M. Wallis must call another meeting, and again transact the business of the annual meeting.

Leonard Says It Was Not the Dempsey of Old Fighting Tunney

Claims Jack Was Not Himself and Allowed a Hundred Openings to Get By, While Gene Jabbed Him Without a Counter—Thinks ex-Marine Will Make a Great Champion

By BENNY LEONARD
Undeclared Light Heavyweight Champion of the World.
(Copyright, United States and Great Britain, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

RINGSIDE, PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 23.—Dempsey used fewer blows with Tunney in ten rounds than he did with Tommy Laughlin, in training, in two. He knew that Dempsey was not the old Dempsey, and said so, but I thought that he would muster three or four rounds of his old-time form. By that I mean the rip, tearing aggressiveness, the fighting style he is noted for.

He showed this in his training with his sparring partners; he tore and made him a champion. As the round progressed I could not convince myself that it was Dempsey fighting, for he stood still, moved around slowly, and rarely tried to punch. Tunney was really afraid, and kept away and let Dempsey lie around and loaf, and do everything but fight. Later on, as the fight progressed and Dempsey continued the standing around, making a lead just every now and then with a right or left, Tunney became more confident, and began leading creative effort, one could expect in such a defence, well, even those who said Tunney would win, expected more from Dempsey, and the end of the contest found Dempsey in bad condition. A battered champion, with a swollen face, a bad cut under the eye, but his nose still in good shape, that may mean something.

Gene Tunney, the new heavyweight champion of the world, boxed cleverly. He moved around, using a right hand to the head and body continually. He was very cautious throughout the fight with these blows, landing them carefully and deliberately, and hunting always for a vital spot. Tunney tied Dempsey up in the clinches, which did not allow Dempsey to fight inside, usually his best bet. This is where Dempsey did all the damage to his opponents in previous fights.

The only way I can really tell you of the passing of the title is that Jack Dempsey came into the ring minus his attack and his fighting instinct. Not even for a minute did he possess these abilities, and he boxed straight to Tunney, who was cautious, moving about, stalling him off with a straight left hand jab, and shaking him with a right cross to the head. These two blows won the title for Tunney, plus the fact that Dempsey used only about fifty doubtful blows in the whole fight.

Tunney will make a great champion. All he lacked in this contest was the confidence of a champion, and I am sure he has gained it from this fight. Tunney is a gentleman, and will be a credit to the boxing profession, which is very dear to me. Had Tunney chased Dempsey if he had this confidence, which belongs to champions, he would have taken more chance and used some of the

Church Bells Peal In Celebration of Tunney's Victory

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Abington Square, a part of Greenwich Village, and home of Gene Tunney, new heavyweight champion of the world, tonight celebrated the victory of a favorite son. Crowds, with bells, horns and other noise-making instruments, thronged the streets as news of the victory over Jack Dempsey reached them. Some invaded neighboring churches and soon church bells added their peals to the clamor.

Bonfires were lighted in the centre of the square.

Crowds Did Not Phase Tunney

Inspiration was not lacking to either fighter, for boxing never saw such an arena or such a crowd before. The tremendous waves of spectators rolling up the sides of the great stadium didn't phase the challenger, however. He came into the ring smiling and confident. He grinned at me over his shoulder, and called a cheery "Hello, Benny"; a few minutes later he picked me out again for a circumstance Gene Tunney grin, and shook his head, as though in doubt. Tonight they are cheering the new champion. I know his feelings. It's a great one. More power to Gene Tunney. May he live as a champion a long time for we need men like Tunney in the game, but Dempsey will live as a champion in my memory. He was a great fighter when he tore in and bored at his opponent. Aside from this, he, too, was a fine fellow. I hope Dempsey is not hurt greatly by the loss of his championship. I know that when he threw his arms around Gene tonight after the decision he felt that the title was going to a worthy man.

BILLIARD EXPERTS WILL PERFORM HERE

Jack McMillan and Sid Boys Will Play 2,000-Point Match at Empress Hotel

Jack McMillan, 1925 Canadian billiard champion, and Sid Boys, Western champion in 1924, will play a 2,000-point match at the Empress Hotel billiard parlors, with the first set commencing tonight at 8 o'clock. The second set will be played on Saturday at 3 p.m., and the final set at 8 o'clock. Neither of these cue artists need any introduction to the followers of the ivory ball game, and it is expected that the billiard-room will be packed to capacity by local cue experts to watch these champions perform.

The early part of the week was spent touring the upper part of the island, and matches have been played at Courtenay, Nanaimo and Cumberland. The present tour by these experts is preparatory to an intended tour of the Dominion, final arrangements for which will be made shortly.

ripped for four or five rounds at Atlantic City every day.

But he came into the ring tonight without one spark of the old killer aggressiveness. The bell rang and Dempsey tore out across the ring as I said he would, and Tunney stood in the corner and waited for him. Dempsey made a lead at Tunney, and Tunney blocked it. They fell into a clinch and in this clinch I noticed that Dempsey was not going to fight as he did at Atlantic City—not even for one round.

Tunney Really Afraid

He didn't even try to punch Tunney—none of the old tearing-in fighting for which Dempsey is noted—while with a left hand jab and right cross, which Dempsey sometimes avoided by bending low. When he stood straight, raising his head, he was an easy mark for Tunney's blows, which I predicted in all my stories. Dempsey never carried his head low, as he should have, to fight Tunney. I know Dempsey knows better, and therefore, as he continued to stand up from round to round I was flabbergasted. Dempsey looked the same, and fought the same, as the fight continued to the finish.

No Vital Blows

The only difference was that his face was cut and his eyes were swollen. He made one or two lunges in the fashion of the "killer" Dempsey near the close, trying desperately to win the fight with one decisive blow. There were no vital blows.

Dempsey never brought them into the ring with him. He lost them on the right stretching back over a trail of defenses. He had them at Atlantic City, but he left them outside the ring.

Tunney boxed cleverly, continually moving around, slipping away from Dempsey's half-hearted charges when they came. When the bell rang at the close of one of the rounds, Tunney would go to his corner fresh. His handlers were not excited, and gave him aid quickly and easily. Dempsey sat in his corner, not worried in the least, and his face, as he fought, never wore a worried look. He just went along with the same expression he carried in his training. I remember twice in the fight Dempsey grit his teeth and tore in with the old viciousness, the Dempsey charge.

These two times were the only times when I could recognize Dempsey the champion. It was a pitiful sight to see a great champion in the ring hopping around and fighting a purely defensive battle without an attempt to punch at this opening. Even in the latter rounds if Dempsey or even the Dempsey of Atlantic City, had been there to tear at his opponent for a while, I believe he would have retained his title, for Tunney wasn't in front so far.

It was still a question, but everybody saw the great Dempsey, the tiger, standing in front of his opponent, allowing a hundred openings to get by, while Tunney jabbed him to the head without a counter.

I predicted that Dempsey would knock Tunney out in the early rounds. I knew and said that Dempsey was not himself. He was slower with his blows, moved more slowly, but nevertheless I saw enough fight in him at his training quarters to convince me that if he put all that fight in a few rounds, the early ones, he could beat Tunney. But, as I said before, the Atlantic City Dempsey wasn't in the ring tonight—let alone the old champion.

Facts Sorry for Dempsey

I feel sorry for Dempsey, not because Tunney won, for I like Tunney. He is a perfect gentleman, but to see a champion in a ring defending his title, fail to make the confident ag-

TELLS ESSENTIAL BUSINESS FACTORS

MR. T. J. COO DELIVERS ADDRESS ON SALESMANSHIP BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Says Only School of Salesmanship Is School of Personal Experience

"Salesmanship is nothing more or less than making your customer feel as you do about the thing you have to sell," Mr. T. J. Coe, traveling auditor of the United Typewriter Company, told members of the Victoria Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel ballroom during an instructive address on "Salesmanship."

As a profession, Mr. Coe stated, salesmanship was the hardest profession in the world to master. In fact, it never had been nor would it ever be mastered.

"The only school of learning for salesmanship is the school of personal experience, from which one never graduates," the speaker affirmed.

Mr. Coe then related what he described as the ten foundation stones of salesmanship. Firstly, there was the matter of health. Salesmen must create an atmosphere of optimism. The thinking of pure thoughts, the avoiding of unclean tongues and the careful selection of companions were absolutely essential to a salesman's success.

Honesty Is Second Stone

The second stone, he declared, was honesty. The salesman must be honest with himself, his employer and his customer. He must first sell himself on the article that he proposes selling his customer.

"Honest salesmen will not play golf, attend moving picture shows or indulge in entertainment during business hours," Mr. Coe stated.

The speaker termed industry as the third stone. The salesman who sowed laziness and indifference would reap sorrow and regret, but if he sowed industry his harvest would be success. The fellow who was always on the job would be rewarded to a high degree. Systematized industry was the salesman's greatest asset, he claimed.

Initiative, the fourth stone, was constructive thinking. Less than five per cent of the people in the world today thought constructively, Mr. Coe

From Sheep to Governor in Twelve Hours

1.—Lieut.-Governor Perceval and Mrs. Yvonne McKenna. His Honor is wearing the coat that was made in a day.

2.—The wool that became a Lieut.-Governor's coat in one day.

WHEN the prize sheep of J. T. Brethour's herd at Burford, Ont., opened his sleepy eyes on the morning of August 23, he little thought that in scarcely more than twelve hours his luxuriant back would be worn as a topcoat by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec.

But that is just what happened, and how the feat was accomplished was related by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Narcisse Perceval, who referred to the smart garment he wore in opening the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto recently.

"This overcoat dropped from the skies," stated His Honor, which is just what it did.

Since no Lieutenant-Governor of a sister Province had appeared at the Canadian National Exhibition in an official capacity for over twenty years, the executive of the Canadian Woolen and Knit Goods Industry decided to mark the presence of the Hon. Mr. Perceval in this way.

At 5 a.m. the best sheep in the herd of Mr. Brethour was shorn at Burford by his nephew, Mr. Russell Templar. By 2 p.m. the wool had been scoured, dyed, blended, carded, spun, warped, woven, finished and shrank, and a fine piece of herringbone tweed was given to Mr. Quinlan, a Brantford tailor. By 4 p.m. the coat was finished and ready to wear.

Then, in a watertight package it was rushed by motor to a flying field, picked up by aeroplane and brought down at the exhibition by Parachute Jumper J. L. Clapp, who jumped from the machine into the water, where he was picked up by a motor launch at exactly 5:45 p.m.

The Hon. Mr. Perceval was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Yvonne McKenna, his A.D.C., Lieutenant-Colonel Papineau, His Honor Mr. Cockburn, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Miss Cockburn, and Colonel Fraser, all six being dressed in "All Canadian" costumes. His Excellency during his visit to the exhibition inspected the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' exhibit, which consisted of a miniature factory, operating machinery, and samples of many finished and raw products from all provinces in the Dominion. He also made a special visit to the Canadian Pacific exhibit, and expressed his admiration for the model train from Winnipeg, which is electrically lighted and operated, and runs in front of a frieze which takes the observer from Quebec to Vancouver.

ITALY'S CURRENCY PLAN IS POPULAR

Transfer of Morgan Loan on Gold Reserves to Bank of Italy Said to Be Approved

ROME, Sept. 23.—The response of the financial community to the Government's decision to reduce drastically the note circulation and to transfer the Morgan loan on the gold reserves to the Bank of Italy with a view to covering the paper note issues, can now be fairly determined. The action may be said to have met with full approval in financial circles, even while they recognize that surpluses will undoubtedly be required from industrial concerns when rapid revaluation of the lira affects prices and business plans.

No one predicts that fluctuation in the lira's foreign value will cease. But the general conviction is that foreign markets will gradually come to appreciate the new elements of stability in the Italian currency and that speculation against its value will gradually disappear.

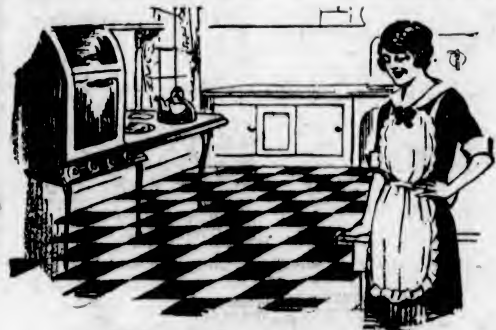

It is felt that the actual decision on the formal stabilization point for the lira is at present impracticable, a certain period of readjustment being required to test the situation. In Government circles and in good financial quarters, however, strong action is expected with a view to bringing the lira to the highest available point in the shortest possible time.

As a whole, industrial opinion expressed itself to the effect that an immediate "production crisis" is more desirable than constantly repeated shocks and surprises at the results of tentative devaluation measures, which was what happened last year.

For some time past internal prices of goods in Italy have been virtually unchanged, but this is naturally not expected to continue. In a revaluation crisis, particularly with industries which require some time to transform their raw material into manufactured goods, the internal market will be disadvantageously affected.

Regarding the effect of the Government measures on the export trade, financial circles are inclined to wait to see whether the lower prices for raw material—notably coal, oil, cotton and wool—as a result of appreciation of the lira, together with the expected salary reductions, will not offset the higher prices which will have to be asked for Italian goods in the competitive international markets.

The Smiling Kitchen

Use "Poliflor" regularly on the Kitchen Linoleum, and the whole atmosphere of the room will brighten up.

"Poliflor" gives a shimmering lustre, with the minimum of effort. It is easy to apply, quick to dry, and requires very little "rubbing-up." And the finish lasts—floors will not require "going over" nearly so often.

"Poliflor" protects and preserves, as well—it feeds the fibres of wood and linoleum, and prevents checking and cracking. It is antiseptic, too—keeps floors germ-free.

Whether you finish your floors by hand, weighted brush, or electric polisher—

it's easier with

The latter are the persons with initiative," he said.

Will Use Well-Balanced Argument

Mr. Coe, in discussing the fifth stone, said that the skillful salesman will employ well-balanced arguments in the presentation of his case to the customer. He will use discretion and reason in the remarks he will make.

The sixth stone was education. A university education was not necessary for a salesman, although sufficient education to enable him properly to use the king's English was essential.

Mr. Coe described the seventh stone as expression. The salesman should be able to properly express his thoughts in such a manner as to make his proposal concise, clear and convincing to his customer. It was not what the salesman said that was of such importance as the way in which he said it.

Knowledge Means Power

Knowledge, the eighth stone, was power. People were prone to pass over little bits of knowledge they had acquired. The fellow who thought he knew it all was on a banana skin, and was slipping. To make a success of his work, a salesman must have knowledge.

The speaker stated that a salesman might have all the above qualifications, but would not be a success unless he had the ninth stone, enthusiasm. If a man failed to make his prospect enthusiastic, he might just as well be a statue.

"Now that we have got nine stones, we must cement the foundation with ability. A salesman can control his own mental trend and shape his own personality. He should avoid pessimism and negative thoughts and attitudes. He should be optimistic, think positively, and make it a vitalizing constructive force. He should never be discouraged, realizing that failure today was but postponed success," the speaker said.

Concluding, Mr. Coe remarked: "A salesman can batter down the cliffs, change the shore line and safely anchor in the harbor of success, if he will only make certain that his foundation is secure."

Old Windjammer Hears Last Sailors' Chantey

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The old sailors' chantey:

"Blow, bugles blow,
For California,"

was heard for the last time aboard one of England's few remaining windjammers this week, when after an absence of three and a half years the sailing ship Monksbarn docked in a Thames after a ninety-nine-day voyage from Rio.

With the sale of this old vessel to a Norwegian whaling company, this country has left only four full-rigged sailing ships. One of these is expected in the Thames this month after plowing the seven seas for eighteen months and another is lying in an American port. The passing of the Monksbarn from under the red ensign is mourned not only by the shellbacks, but by many officers of great liners who graduated aboard her before "taking steam."

Japanese Dancer Lifts French Charleston Ban

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The hotels at Nice have removed their ban against the Charleston. It took a young Japanese to effect the change. Dressed in plus fours and dancing the Charleston with his Parisian-gowned wife, the Japanese succeeded in what hundreds of Americans had failed. The hotel dancing master tried to argue with him, but the effort was in vain, for the dancers professed to speak Japanese only. Within an hour 200 couples were dancing the Charleston, and the next evening the signs prohibiting the Charleston had disappeared.

"Beau Geste"

A Great Mystery Story

By PERCIVAL CHRISTOPHER WREN

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS
Major Henri de Beaujolais, hearing that the company holding the fort at Zinderst is attacked, takes a company of men to the rescue. Arriving there he is startled to find men propped in the embrasures of the fort—dead. Inside he finds the commandant of the fort dead—murdered by one of his own men apparently, for a bayonet like those issued the French Foreign Legion is found plunged through his heart.

Why should that be added to my conundrums? . . . A paper with English writing on it, in the hand of a dead French officer in a black-house in the heart of the Territoire Militaire of the Sahara?
"Perhaps the bloke was English," suggested Lawrence. "I have heard that there are some in the Legion."
"No," was the immediate reply. "That he most certainly was not. A typical Frenchman of the Midi—stoutish, florid, blue-jawed fellow of full habit. Perhaps a Provencal—thousands like him in Marseilles, Arles, Nîmes, Avignon, Carcassonne, Tarascon. Might have been the good Tartarin himself. Conceivably a Belgian; possibly a Spaniard or Italian, but most certainly not an Englishman. Still less was the standing man, an olive-checked Italian or Sicilian."

"And the recumbent bareheaded chap?" said Lawrence.
"Ah—quite another affair, that! He might very well have been English. In fact, had I been asked to guess at his nationality, I should have said, 'A Northerner certainly. English most probably.' He would have been well in the picture in your public schools and universities by the thousand."

What you are thinking is exactly what occurred to me, English writing on the paper; an English-looking legionary, his cap lying near the man who held the paper crumpled in his hand; the lining just torn out of the cap. . . . Ha! Here was a little glimmer of light, a possible clue. It was just reconstructing the scene when the Sergeant-Major ascending the stairs.

Had this Englishman killed the sous-officier while the latter tore some document from the lining of the man's cap? Obviously not. The poor fellow's bayonet was in its sheath, at his side, and if he had done it—how had he got himself put into position?

"Might have been shot afterwards," said Lawrence.
"No. He was arranged. I tell you," was the reply, "and the most assuredly had not arranged himself. Besides, he was bareheaded. Does a man go about bareheaded in the desert? . . . No. But to my mind the question doesn't arise in view of the fact that that inexplicable bayonet."

One bayonet more than there were soldiers and rifles!

No—I ceased reconstructing the scene with that on the table, and I had no reason to select any one else for the role. . . . Then I heard the bull voice of Sergeant Lebudy, down in the oasis, roar "Formez la colonne!" and "Recevez le drapeau!" and back to face the Sergeant-Major approached and saluted.

"All in order, mon Commandant," reported he, and fell to eyeing the corpses.

"Even to half-smoked cigarettes in their mouths," he whispered. "The fallen who were not allowed to fall—the dead forbidden to die. Then—"

"But where in the name of God is Jean the Trumpeter?"

"Tell me that, Chief, and I will fill your kept with twenty franc pieces—and give you the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor," said I.

The Sergeant-Major, appalled, crossed himself, and then said, "Let us get out of here while we can."

"Are you a Sergeant-Major or a young lady?" I enquired, and, as one does, in such circumstances, rated him soundly for feeling exactly as I did myself; and the more I said, the more angry and unreasonable I grew. You know how one's head and one's nerves get, in that accursed desert, George.

"I know, old son," agreed Lawrence. "I have found myself half-ready to murder a pichin for dropping a plate."

"Yes—the best of us get really incoherent at times, in that hellish heat and unnatural life. . . . But I got a hold upon myself and felt ashamed—for the good fellow took it well."

"Did Your Excellency make a thorough search?" he asked, rebukingly polite.

"But, my dear Chief, what need to make a thorough search for a living man, a hale and hearty, healthy soldier, in a small place into which he had been sent to open a gate? Mon Dieu! he has legs! He has a tongue in his head! If he were here, wouldn't he be here?" I asked.

"Murdered perhaps," was the reply. "By whom? Heelies? Lizards? I suspect."

He shrugged his shoulders, and pointed to the sous-officier with a dramatic gesture.

"That one had not been murdered by heelies or lizards!"

"Yes," said I. "Now we'll reconstruct this crime, first reading what is on this paper," and I opened the stiffened fingers and took it. There was a dirty crumpled torn envelope there, too. Now Georges, mon vieux, prepare yourself. You are going to show a little emotion, my frozen Englishman!"

Lawrence smiled faintly.

"It was a most extraordinary document," continued de Beaujolais. "I'll show it to you when we get on board the ship. It was something like this: On the envelope was, 'To the Chief of Police of Scotland Yard and all whom it may concern.' And on the paper, 'Confession. Important. Urgent. Please publish.'"

For fear that any innocent person may be suspected, I hereby fully and freely confess that it was I, and I alone, who stole the great sphinx known as "Blue Water."

"What?" shouted George Lawrence, jumping up. "What? What are you saying, de Beaujolais?"

"Ah! my little George," smiled the Frenchman, floating. "And where is not the phlegme Britannique now, may I ask? That made you sit up, quite literally, didn't it? We do not yawn now, my little George, do we?"

George Lawrence stared at his friend, incredulous, open-mouthed.

"But that is Lady Brandon's Jew!" . . . What on earth . . . stammered Lawrence, sitting down heavily. "Are you romancing, de Beaujolais? Being funny?"

"I am telling you what was written on this paper—which I will show you when I can get my dispatch-case, my friend," was the reply.

"Good God, man! Lady Brandon!—"

"Do you mean to say that the 'Blue Water' has been pinched—and that the thief took refuge in the Foreign Legion, or drifted there somehow?" asked Lawrence, bling back on his roll of bedding.

"I don't mean to say anything—except to tell my little tale, the dull little tale that has bored you so, my George," replied de Beaujolais, with a malicious grin.

George Lawrence swung his feet to the ground and stood up again. Never had his friend seen this reserved, taciturn and unemotional man so affected.

"I don't get you. I don't take it in," he said. "Lady Brandon's story? Our Lady Brandon? The 'Blue Water' that we used to be allowed to look at sometimes? Stolen! . . . And you have found it?"

"I have found nothing, my friend, but a crumpled and bloodstained piece of paper in a dead man's hand," was the reply.

"With Lady Brandon's name on it? It's absurd, man. . . . In the middle of the Sahara? And you found it. . . . With her name on it? Well, I'm absolutely damned!" ejaculated Lawrence.

"Yes, my friend, and perhaps you begin to realize how 'absolutely damned' I was when I read that paper—streaked with blood. But probably I was not as surprised as you are now. Even that could not have surprised me very much then, I think," said de Beaujolais.

Lawrence sat down.

"Go on, old chap," he begged. "I sincerely apologize for my recent manner. Please tell me everything, and then let us thrash it out."

Lady Brandon! . . . The 'Blue Water' stolen!

"No need for apologies, my dear George," smiled his friend. "If you seemed a little unimpressed and bored at times, it only gave me the greater pleasure for the denouement, when you should hear your . . . our . . . friend's name come into this extraordinary story."

"You a wily and patient old devil Jolly," said the astounded Lawrence. "I salute you, Sir. A logical old rascal, too! Fancy keeping that back until now, and telling the yarn so neatly, in proper sequence and due order, until the right point in the story was reached, and then . . ."

"Ah! the phlegme Britannique eh, George?" chuckled de Beaujolais. "Wonderful how the volatile and impetuous Frenchman could do it, wasn't it? And there is something else to come, my friend. All in 'logical proper sequence and due order' there comes another little surprise."

"Then, for God's sake, get on with it, old chap!" More about Lady Brandon, it it?" replied Lawrence, now all animation and interest.

"Indirectly, mon cher Georges. For that paper was signed—by whom?" asked the Frenchman, leaning forward, tapping his friend's knee, staring impressively with narrowed eyes into those of that bewildered gentleman.

And into the ensuing silence he slowly and deliberately dropped the words, "By Michael Geste!"

Lawrence raised himself on his elbow and stared at his friend incredulously.

"By Michael Geste! Her nephew! You don't mean to tell me that Michael Geste stole her sapphire and slunk off to the Legion? 'Beau Geste' got out . . ." he said, and fell back.

"I don't mean to tell you anything, my friend, except that the paper was signed 'Michael Geste.' Look here, are you pulling my leg?"

"I do not know who the man was, George. And I am not pulling your leg. I saw two or three boys and two so beautiful girls, once, at Brandon Abbas, years ago. This man might have been one of them. The age would be about right. And then, again, this man may have had nothing on earth to do with the paper. Nor any other man on that roof, except the sous-officier—"

"We most certainly was not Michael Geste. He was a man of forty or forty-five years, and as I have said, no Englishman."

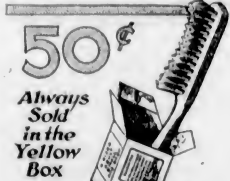

"Michael would be about twenty or so," said Lawrence. "He was the oldest of the nephews. . . . But, my dear Jolly, the Geste don't steal. They are her nephews. I am going to put some ice on my head."

"Oh, damn your trumpet and sous-officier," was the exasperated reply. Michael Geste! . . . Lady Brandon! . . . Forgive me, old chap, and finish the story . . ."

and George Lawrence lay back on his couch and stared at the roof of the carriage.

Lady Brandon! The only woman in the world.
